Welcome

Welcome to the Saint Francis Xavier University (StFX) Master of Education Program. This program is delivered by members of the Faculty of Education’s Department of Curriculum and Leadership. The StFX Continuing and Distance Education Program Office works closely with the Faculty of Education to administer this student program of choice, and deliver top quality Master of Education programming to teachers in Nova Scotia and beyond.

This Graduate Program Handbook is a “how to” guide to the program as well as related topics such as program outlines, student email account set-up, transcript requests, and course registration. It is also a comprehensive guide to academic writing and referencing at the graduate level. We hope this handbook will be a useful tool to help you complete your MEd.

All administrative program questions should be directed to staff in the Continuing & Distance Education Program Office, while questions about academics should be directed to the Chair of the Department of Curriculum and Leadership.

Introduction from the Chair

The Department of Curriculum and Leadership of St. Francis Xavier University’s Faculty of Education welcomes you to the world of graduate education! Bienvenue! Pjila’si! The Faculty of Education’s graduate studies program rests on the foundations of lifelong learning and community learning and has five key goals. An overarching goal is to create a professional culture of educational research and inquiry within which you a can think deeply about the complex task of educating others. We hope to develop the capacity of each of you as a graduate student to act as future leaders in education and as change leaders to improve public education. We aim to introduce new ways of thinking that will challenge your assumptions and, in so doing, promote on-going critical reflection about what it is we do in public education.

As adult learners, each of you bring professional and personal experiences to this program that will serve as important resources in your own learning in the Masters program. We will invite you to lay those experiences alongside the experiences of other educators and scholars, some of whom you will meet in the graduate classrooms (virtual and real) in which you will be learning and some you’ll meet in the wider community of scholars.

Graduate study allows you to take a step back from your busy practice and examine it in new, critical, and thoughtful ways. It is a time and a place to engage in learning conversations with a diverse group of faculty and colleagues. Our full-time and part-time faculty have proven track records as educational practitioners and scholars look forward to working and learning alongside you on your educational journey. Bon voyage!

St. Francis Xavier University

St. Francis Xavier University (StFX) traces its origin to a small school of higher studies which was established at Arichat, Nova Scotia in 1853, to train pastoral clergy for a growing and widely dispersed Catholic population. In 1855, St. Francis Xavier College was relocated to Antigonish and in 1866 full university powers were conferred upon the college by an act of the provincial legislature. In 1894, St. Bernard’s Academy became affiliated with the university as Mount Saint Bernard College when the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame of Montreal were invited to staff a school at Mount Saint Bernard for young women. In 1897, St. Francis Xavier became the first Catholic coeducational university in North America to grant degrees to women.

StFX University is widely recognized as one of the top post-secondary institutions in Canada, one that truly shapes the world. From its halls have come a prime minister, provincial premiers, Rhodes scholars, scientists, religious leaders, educators, and business leaders. Today, StFX continues to offer the kind of high quality education that so many of Canada’s top students seek. Students, faculty members, and staff at StFX make significant contributions to communities at home and abroad through outstanding teaching, exceptional research, and service.

StFX University’s Strategic Plan, which represents the ideals for which the university strives and which reflects its proud traditions, emphasizes commitment to the highest standards for its faculty and students. The Strategic Plan stresses that excellence in teaching and research is more important than growth of the institution. True to that Plan, StFX strives to be an excellent, mid-size university, with high academic standards and a character attractive to those who hold and respect social and cultural values.

Today, StFX University is a leading national university with a longstanding tradition of academic excellence, service to society, and innovation in teaching and research. StFX takes pride in, and is dedicated to, providing its students with an education that is intellectually stimulating and personally enriching within an atmosphere of inclusiveness for students, faculty, and staff of diverse backgrounds.

StFX Faculty of Education

St. Francis Xavier University’s Faculty of Education is the lead institution for the study of educational administration and leadership in Nova Scotia, offering both full-time and part-time Master of Education programming. In the Master of Education and the Bachelor of Education programs, we offer high-calibre teaching by dedicated faculty who all have extensive classroom teaching and/or administrative experience, and who embody current pedagogical theory in their own teaching practice.

A PhD in Educational Studies is offered in partnership by St. Francis Xavier University, Mount Saint Vincent University, and Acadia University. This research-oriented doctoral program is jointly administered by the Inter-University Doctoral Administrative Committee (IDAC). Applicants are admitted to one university and graduate from that Home Institution of Record. The website for the inter-university doctoral program is http://www.educationphd.ns.ca.

The StFX Faculty of Education develops and supports school-based research in Administration/Leadership and Curriculum Studies. In the fall, winter, spring, and summer terms, the faculty offers courses online and in various locations across Nova Scotia, including Antigonish, Halifax, Sydney, Truro, and Yarmouth. In the fall and winter terms, the full-time Master of Education program provides faculty and graduate students with the opportunity to learn and grow together as graduate students work alongside faculty in BEd classes.

During the StFX summer session, students study on campus to experience the rich diversity of university life in a close-knit community, while studying for a degree defined by the highest academic standards. During summer school, classes are held every second day, and Master of Education students have the additional advantage of studying and connecting with international students. A limited number of courses are available online during summer session.

The Campus

StFX has an attractive campus situated on 10 acres with many facilities including classrooms, laboratories, a chapel, offices, residences, dining halls, an all-weather sport field, gyms, a swimming pool, a conference centre, and a theatre. Please see the back of this handbook for a campus map. StFX is particularly proud of the Angus L. Macdonald Library. Enlarged in 1986 by the addition of G. Richard Chater Hall, it now seats 900, and its book capacity is half a million.

The Keating Millennium Centre (the “KMC”) is also a centre of campus life. This multi-purpose complex provides residents of northeastern Nova Scotia and StFX students with state-of-the-art facilities for sports, recreation, aerobics, dance, fitness/wellness, skating, walking, and conferences.

Bloomfield Centre is the Students Union Building. Commonly called “Bloomfield” or the “SUB,” it is a four-storey structure located on the upper campus. Services in the building include the Campus Store, (bookstore), Post Office, Art Gallery, and a cafeteria during fall and winter terms.

The StFX campus has a friendly atmosphere with access to modern apartment-style living for your on-campus studies. You may also wish to take advantage of the many extracurricular activities that the Antigonish region offers, including summer theatre, the Highland Games, golf, beautiful beaches, scenic drives, and peaceful strolls.

The Faculty of Education is located in Xavier Hall, on the lower end of campus, to the north of Morrison Hall. Xavier Hall contains offices for Education faculty and classroom space. A study space has also been set aside for full-time MEd students in Room 303, Xavier Hall.

Program Overview

The Master of Education program is grounded in two main purposes: to provide a space for student to understand their professional knowledge and to make meaningful links among this knowledge and the conceptual and theoretical knowledge of educational research.

StFX offers a MEd degree with specialization in Educational Leadership and Administration, or in Curriculum and Instruction. Students must complete the specified core courses and choose electives appropriate to their interests.

There are three options by which a student may complete the requirements for the MEd: a thesis route, a project route, or a course-based route. Students who choose the thesis route must complete 24 credits in graduate education courses and a 12-credit thesis. Students who choose the project route must complete 30 credits in graduate education courses and a 6-credit project. Students following the course-based route are required to complete 36 credits in graduate education courses.

The degree fulfills the requirements of the Nova Scotia Department of Education for an increase in level of teacher certification. Graduate courses in Education are offered as fall, winter, spring, and summer courses in locations around the province and online.

Candidates for the MEd are normally required to take EDUC 534 and EDUC 505 as their first two courses on the StFX campus in Antigonish during the summer session immediately after being accepted into the program. EDUC 505 is a prerequisite for EDUC 506, EDUC 507, and EDUC 508. Normally, EDUC 506, EDUC 507, or EDUC 508 is taken after core courses are completed. EDUC 506 or 507 is required for the thesis and project route; EDUC 508 is required for the course-based route.

The Course-Based Route

Students taking the course-based route must complete all required courses in either the Educational Leadership and Administration stream or the Curriculum and Instruction stream (see p. 11). In both streams, the courses EDUC 506 or EDUC 507 may be substituted for EDUC 508. Remaining credits can be earned by taking elective courses. Usually, these are taken within either the Leadership or Curriculum areas. In some cohort groups, EDUC 593 is a required course. See note below.

NOTE

EDUC 593: Synthesizing Paper
Some cohort groups will have an EDUC 593 course as their final exiting/synthesizing course. This course can be either an individual or group undertaking that serves to consolidate and synthesize some of the essential foundations of the cohort candidates’ experiences throughout their program of study.
The Project-Based Route (Refer to the Thesis & Project Guidelines for details)

Students taking the project-based route must complete 10 3-credit courses (required courses and electives) and EDUC 590 (6 credits). It is strongly suggested that EDUC 593 be taken as the final elective course prior to commencing EDUC 590.

Projects tend to focus on a school-based or school board-specific interest that directly involves the candidate. The project is not bound to typical research presentation parameters such as a thesis would be. It is more flexible in its delivery and end product, but must include—to some degree—a research question, methodology, and an appropriately constructed literature review. For example, a project outcome could be a series of unit plans on a specific issue (for example, Mi'kmaq language and culture retention, math literacy, an action research piece into a School Advisory Council (SACs), Positive Effective Behaviour Support (PEBS), or a policy issue that relates to a specific institution and group of similar institutions). The Chair of Curriculum and Leadership’s approval is required and an advisor is required to supervise the candidate’s sequence of completion steps including the proposal, ethics (if required), research components, and final presentation. In addition to the advisor, a second reader is also required. The timeline for project completion is usually a minimum of between 6 and 12 months after course completion.

The Thesis-Based Route (Refer to the Thesis & Project Guidelines for details)

Students choosing the thesis-based route in the Educational Administration and Policy Stream must complete EDUC 505, 534, 561, 573, 533, 506 or 507 and 599 (12 credits). Students choosing the thesis-based route in the Curriculum and Instruction Stream must complete EDUC 505, 534, 536, 532, 527, 506 or 507, and 599 (12 credits). Students in both streams must also take two 3-credit elective courses. It is strongly suggested that EDUC 593 be taken as the final elective course prior to commencing EDUC 599.

A graduate thesis is an in-depth study of a specific issue that affects education. Example of past theses titles include: “Parents as Advocates: Helping our Learning Disabled Students Experience a Positive Education,” “Outcome-based Education in a Grade 7 Classroom: Examining Changes in Instructional Practice,” “School Advisory Councils and the Classroom,” and “Peer Coaching: A Viable Component of a Supportive Supervision Process.” The thesis is larger in scope than a project and usually requires data collection.

Students considering the thesis route are to contact the Chair of the Department of Curriculum and Leadership, who will then discuss their program goals with them, and then the Chair will approach the suggested faculty members or suggest others, where appropriate. Final approval of theses supervisors is done in consultation with the Dean of Education. Students should not approach faculty members directly to request that they be their supervisors.

Along with a thesis advisor, a second and a third reader and an external examiner are recommended to a student’s committee. Once an advisor is chosen, the student and advisor will determine appropriate second and third readers in consultation with the Chair of the Department of Curriculum and Leadership. The timeline for thesis completion is usually a minimum of 12 months after course completion.

Students taking the Thesis and the Project routes have the opportunity to do EDUC 593 (Directed Study) as one of their electives. Electives are to be selected from the graduate courses offered in education. Substitution or transfer of credit will normally not be considered for core courses. Should you require help with course selection or academic counselling, please contact the Program Office.

Summer School Requirement

As part of the Master of Education degree requirement, students must attend summer school on the Antigonish campus for one 4-week session during July, immediately following acceptance into the program. This summer opportunity is an excellent beginning to the MEd program, and one of the many reasons that our MEd program is students’ program of choice.

The EDUC 505 and EDUC 534 summer courses offer opportunities for students to meet and to learn from and with educators from other school jurisdictions in the province, country, and from other places around the world. Graduate students find that this provides excellent opportunities to share ideas that lead to innovation and creative development in their own professional learning contexts.

Transfer Credit

If you wish to take a part-time course at another university in order to fulfill program requirements, you must obtain a Letter of Permission form and approval from the Program Office before you commence the course. A maximum of six transfer credits is permitted. Normally, transfer credit will not be permitted for core courses. Courses more than 4 years old will not be approved for transfer credit.

Once you have completed the course, arrange for an official transcript to be sent to the Continuing & Distance Education Program Office. If applying for graduation, you must ensure transfer credits are received by the Program Office at least two weeks before graduation.

Online Learning

Taking courses online provides a flexible and convenient opportunity for you as a student. Our online platforms include Blackboard (asynchronous or any-time, anywhere) and Collaborate (formerly named ElluminateLive!) (synchronous or real-time).

Many of our courses and programs use Blackboard as the learning management system, providing students with the flexibility of choosing the time of day or night they wish to participate in their course.

Graduate courses (MEd) use Collaborate and Blackboard. Collaborate is real-time, meaning you and your peers are present at the same time. Through Collaborate, you will be able to listen and speak with others and through interactive tools, see and share activities. Blackboard is often used for discussions and document sharing throughout the term.

To ensure that you are prepared to be an online learner and to help you prepare for a positive and successful online experience, here are a few tips and suggestions:

- You must have access to a computer and the Internet on a regular basis. You will need to check your course daily to participate in discussions and to get course materials and updates. Also, keep your StFX email inbox active, as it is the professor’s method of communicating with you.
- You must be prepared to spend at least 10 hours of study time per week for each course you are taking. Online courses provide flexibility and convenience; however, they do require time, commitment, and attention.
- Time management skills are important in an online course. Check your course daily for new postings, updates, assignment deadlines, posting dates, etc. In many courses, weekly schedules are provided to help you stay on track.
- Blackboard and Collaborate tutorials are available. Participate in a tutorial before the course begins to ensure that you are prepared for the first class. A Blackboard and/or Collaborate tutorial will help your understanding of the transition from the traditional classroom into an online classroom.
- You will be expected to participate and share in discussions by responding to questions posted by the instructor as well as responding to postings by others in your class. This is done in an open, constructive, and friendly manner. Posting your thoughts/comments provides you the opportunity to reflect on your answers before posting them.
- Technology guidelines for Windows and Mac are provided on p. 13.

It is the responsibility of students to know their degree pattern, the course(s) they require, and the pre-requisites for each course. Questions can be addressed to the Program Office.

Course Fees/Receipts

Tuition Fees

Graduate students enrolled in the Master of Education program pay tuition fees based on the number of courses they register in for each semester. Full-time graduate students normally take four courses (12 credits) in each of the Fall and Winter semesters. International students pay a differential fee based on the number of courses in which they register each semester.
Tuition fees for Master of Education students are payable, by the course, before each course begins. International students pay an additional fee. For current tuition fees, please refer to the Continuing & Distance Education Calendar which is available online at http://www.mystfx.ca/academic/continuinged/graduate.html or call the Continuing & Distance Education Program Office.

Course Drop Fees

Students dropping an MEd course one week before a course begins must notify the Program Office. A $100 course drop fee is automatically charged to all Master of Education students dropping an MEd course within two weeks of the course start date.

For further information, please contact the Program Office.

Students' Union fees are not charged for off-campus/distance courses. See the StFX Academic Calendar, Section 2.1.4 for further information.

Thesis Fees

EDUC 599 (Thesis) is a 12-credit course. In order to facilitate payment for this course, the Business Office advises that the following schedules of payment are acceptable and will not lead to penalty charges: (a) full payment upon registration; or (b) partial payment (equivalent to a 3-credit course) upon registration, with the balance paid in three equal instalments at the beginning of the next three consecutive terms.

Arrangements for an alternative payment schedule may be possible; please contact the Business Office to make these arrangements. Normally, when an alternative payment schedule is followed, penalty and interests charges will apply.

Payment Options

All tuition fee payments are due the day before the course begins. All payment or receipt inquiries are to be addressed to the StFX Business Office at (902) 867-2123. The preferred payment option is paying online through your StFX student account. You are able to obtain a print copy of your receipt. As of September 30, 2010, the University has discontinued the use of credit cards for payment of tuition fees. Your University online bank account number is your StFX student ID number. Cheques are to be made payable to St. Francis Xavier University and should include your student ID number on the back of your cheque.

Checking your account balance and making a making a payment on your account:
1. Go to the StFX student home page (http://www.mystfx.ca/students/)
2. Select BANNER/mesAMIS
3. Select the ‘STUDENTS’ link on the right side of the page under mesAMIS Login
4. From your homepage under ‘Important Stuff to Check Out’ select ‘Lookup Student Account Information’
5. For student account inquiries, please contact the StFX Business Office directly at (902) 867-2123

Receipts

T2202As for income tax purposes are available at the Banner/mesAMIS portal at the end of February each year: https://mesamis.stfx.ca/reports/default.htm
Receipts for other purposes may be obtained by calling the StFX Business Office at (902) 867-2123.
Funding Support

Conference Travel Support

Funding, not to exceed $600, may be available to support graduate students who wish to attend educational conferences related to their field of study. Please see your faculty advisor for further details.

Study Awards

A limited number of $500 study awards will be granted each year to current students in good standing in the Master of Education program. Deadlines for application for each academic year are November 15 and February 15. Application forms can be located through the following link: http://www.mystfx.ca/academic/continuinged/pdf/departments/graduate/med-study-award-form.pdf

Attendance Policy

Class attendance is mandatory in all Master of Education courses. This policy is intended to help minimize any and all unnecessary absences from class and also ensure that students receive the in-class or online learning experience that will provide them with maximum success in their professional learning journey. Students are required to inform their instructors if unexpected professional teaching duties conflict with class schedules.

1. Attendance at all classes is mandatory, without a sufficient medical excuse or for reasons associated with the serious illness or death of a family member. Family matters other than those related to serious illness or deaths are rarely considered a sufficient excuse for missing class. Since class times and dates are posted months in advance, students are expected to participate in all classes and not to register for courses which they are unable to attend. Medical excuse notes should be sent to the course instructor, who will forward them to the Program Office.

2. If a student misses class without a documented medical note, the instructor is required to record this and issue a warning to the student that further unexcused absences will normally prevent the student from receiving credit for the course. According to the StFX Academic Calendar, “faculty are required to report to the Dean all unexplained absences in excess of three hours over at least two classes of any term” (p. 13). Students missing more than 20% of class time are in serious jeopardy of receiving a failing grade for the course.

3. When weather conditions are considered too hazardous for travel, students will receive an email to their StFX email account from the Program Office or the course instructor. This message will inform students of a course delivery change to use of Blackboard© or Collaborate, or of the class’s cancellation and rescheduled time. Cancellations are generally made by noon of the class day. If in doubt, please call the Program Office for an update at 1-877-867-3906 (Students must make a personal decision if weather/road conditions in their area are safe for travel to class).

For further information, please contact the Program Office.
Withdrawal/Cancellation

Withdrawal

A student withdrawing from a course or the MEd program must immediately notify Continuing & Distance Education at (902) 867-3906, toll-free at 1-877-867-3906 or email med@stfx.ca. Notification to the instructor does not constitute official withdrawal. Prorated refunds can only be made from the date of the notice of withdrawal. No refund is available after 9 class hours have elapsed. There is a $100 administration fee charged to students withdrawing from a course within two weeks prior to the start date of the course.

Course Cancellation

The University reserves the right to cancel any courses for which there is insufficient registration. It is important to register before the deadline as the decision to hold or to cancel a course is determined by the number of registrations received by the deadline.

Closed Courses

The University reserves the right to decline an application for a course if the number of registrants has reached the maximum number designated.

Completion Policies

Course Completion Policy

Course work in any Master of Education course must be completed by the due date set by the instructor. If course work in a Master of Education course is not completed by the due date, the student must contact his/her course professor by that date, in writing, requesting a 30-day extension, and send a copy of the letter to the Chair of the Department of Curriculum and Leadership. If the extension is granted, a mark of IP (in progress) will appear on the student transcript. The IP will stand for 30 days following the approval of the extension by which date all assigned work must be completed and submitted to the instructor. If all assigned work is not submitted by such date, the grade submitted by the instructor will be based on the work that the student did submit.

In the event of extenuating circumstances, students are advised to submit a formal letter to the Chair of Curriculum and Leadership, with a copy to the instructor, requesting an extension beyond the initial 30 days as above. The letter must include the date by which the course work will be completed. If approved by the MEd Steering Committee, and the course work is not completed by the stated date, the grade submitted by the instructor will be based on the work that the student did submit. The MEd Steering Committee has the right to reject a student’s request for an extension.

Degree Completion Policy

Program degree completion requirements include:

- Official acceptance to the Master of Education program
- Successful completion of all required and elective course work
- Summer school school attendance
• Successful completion of project/thesis (including ethics approval) if not choosing the course-based route
• Adherence to all posted university calendar requirements and deadlines for the degree
• Submission of all required fees

Students who do not fulfill all program requirements within the designated time frame jeopardize their continuance within the MEd program. The MEd Steering Committee has the right to reject a student’s request for an extension. Please note that it is the student’s responsibility to become knowledgeable about course requirements and degree completion dates and requirements.

Graduation

Application for Degree Deadlines

To apply for graduation in Spring Convocation, you must fill out and submit an Application for Degree/Diploma online by October 15 of the preceding year. Failure to do so will jeopardize your graduation.

X-Ring

If you are in good academic standing and have earned and/or enrolled in a total of 36 credits, you are eligible to consider applying for the University’s X-ring. An eligibility notice will be sent to your StFX email account in the fall term that you become eligible. The X-ring ceremony takes place on December 3, The Feast of St. Francis Xavier. Contact the Student Union Office, at (902) 867-2495 for further information.

• Local X-Ring Supplier: Cameron’s Jewellery, 238 Main Street, Antigonish
  Phone: (902) 863-1283
• National X-Ring Supplier: Henry Birks & Sons Inc., Halifax, NS
Both Cameron’s and Birks require an Eligibility Form to place an order. These forms are emailed to your StFX email account once the graduation list is approved.

Grades & Transcripts

Criteria for Grading a Graduate Student’s Work

The passing grade for all graduate courses is 60% and a general average of 70% is required for graduation.

MEd student performance and academic standing is reviewed annually by the Committee on Graduate Studies. To maintain a satisfactory standing, students must be successful in 12 of any 18 consecutive credits with a passing grade of 60, and, in addition, must maintain a moving average of 70. Students who fail courses beyond this number or who do not maintain the required average will be placed on academic probation. A student on academic probation who subsequently fails a course or does not achieve a moving average of at least 70 may be liable to academic dismissal.

All grades at StFX are numerically-based. Letter Grade Equivalent Range (University standard):

Grade Appeal Procedure

Only final grades can be appealed, in writing, using the grade appeal form which can be found online by logging in at https://mesamis.stfx.ca/reports/login.asp. A $10 fee is charged for each grade appealed. This fee will be refunded if the appeal results in a change of grade. Appeals must be made before January 15 for first-term courses, before June 15 for full-year and second-term courses, before July 15 for spring courses, and before September 15 for summer courses.

The Dean will request a review from the instructor and report it to the student, or the student may request the Dean to arrange an interview between the student and the instructor. If the student is dissatisfied, the Dean will set up an appeal committee of three instructors from the department, one chosen by the student, one by the instructor, and a third chosen by the first two members. To initiate such proceedings, the student must appeal in writing within 10 days of receiving notification of the results of the review. Both the student and the professor may present their respective cases in writing to the appeal committee. The student must pay a fee of $25 if an appeal committee is established; this fee is refunded if the committee decides in his or her favour.

Transcripts

You can print a copy of your unofficial transcript (Student Academic Summary Report) online, anytime, through “Services & Links”.

To request an official transcript, please access the form http://www.mystfx.ca/services/registrar/transcripts/. Here you will find practical information about transcript requests as well as the request form.
Please email registr@stfx.ca if you have completed your MEd program requirements and wish to notify either your Board or the Department of Education. Your transcript will be stamped that you have completed program requirements. This process replaces sending individual letters for each student to the various Departments of Education.

StFX Policy on Plagiarism

Academic Honesty

Students are expected to be familiar with university policies regarding academic dishonesty. If you are unsure as to whether or not you need to cite a reference, please cite it! Material taken from others for responses, presentations, and papers must be acknowledged. Failure to follow this practice may result in a grade of 0. Refer to the referencing guidelines provided in this Graduate Student Handbook for information and examples.

Please consult Section 3.8 of the StFX Academic Calendar - StFX University Policy on Academic Honesty - which is located online at http://www.mystfx.ca/services/registrar/calendar/ for more information about Academic Integrity.

Graduate Course Confidentiality Guidelines

Graduate course instructors sometimes require their students to conduct assignments that are dependent on the following:

- Observation of students, teachers, school administrators, or other human subjects participating in classroom or school-related activities;
- Observation of organizational meetings, both formal and informal, involving parents, students, or staff, or presentations to school organizations;
- Conversations about a school or a school-like body, (e.g., a foundation or educational group), its constituency groups, personnel, or institutions with members of such constituencies.

If graduate course instructors ask students to engage in this kind of course work, the following guidelines regarding the reporting of such observations or conversations within a classroom or course context should be attended to:

- The course instructor will inform students that the names of any of the human subjects or the names of institutions involved cannot be used in class, whether in formal or informal discussion, or in any written work submitted as part of the course requirements, including journal or logbook entries.
- Any content, conclusions, or other ideas derived from class discussions or written work will not be used for publication or other research unless that research has obtained prior Research Ethics Board (REB) ethics approval prior to commencing the research.
- It is the responsibility of the graduate course instructor to apply for ethics approval for, or with, all students who will be engaged in dealing with human subjects if the content of such class work will be used as research data.

Please note that these guidelines do not bar students from keeping a personal log or diary.

It is understood that any work involving actual human subjects and institutions must respect the privacy and rights of those subjects. Graduate course instructors must remember that disseminating information about any human subjects by true name or indirect reference within a class could violate the rights of such human subjects. Thus, any oral or written analysis that is derived from the observations and conversations indicated above must employ pseudonyms in the place of actual names for individuals, institutions, or unique events. If, by way of exception, it is necessary or highly desirable to use actual names, permission to do so should be obtained from the persons involved beforehand.

The primary purpose of these guidelines is to insure that the names or identities of human subjects are safeguarded in recorded course work both within and outside of the classroom. Once a statement is made within a classroom, it may be considered as “on public record.” If so, it has the possibility of being discussed outside of the classroom, and could be misconstrued. Any misconstrued data could be considered libellous and open to legal action on the part of a named or implied human subject.

Program & University Services

Academic Counselling

Academic counselling can be obtained from the Program Office or the Chair of the Department of Curriculum and Leadership. Arrangements to meet with a course instructor should be made directly with a course instructor; usually, arrangements can be made to meet before or after class. Do not hesitate to contact your instructor about any concerns or questions you may have about a course either in person, via StFX email, or by telephone.

Campus Store (Bookstore)

The Campus Store is located in the Bloomfield Centre (Student Union Building), on the 1st floor, (902) 867-5025. Textbooks can be purchased through the StFX Campus Store or online at http://www.mystfx.ca/campusstore/students/index.htm. On this site, choose Masters of Education and then Masters of Education again. As many of the course numbers look similar, please make sure you have chosen the correct course location for the text you are ordering.

Textbook Payments
Payment can be made by cash, money order, cheque, or credit card. Cheques are payable to StFX Campus Store.

Textbook Refunds
You may obtain a refund if books are returned in new condition (unmarked, resalable) and accompanied with a sales slip, within 14 days of purchase. A service fee will apply.

Faculty of Education Curriculum Resource Centre

The Curriculum Resource Centre (319B Xavier Hall) houses elementary, middle, and secondary curriculum materials such as books, curriculum guides, videos, DVDs, CD-ROMs, thematic units, bulletin board aids, maps, Nova Scotia Museum Kits and science kits. The Centre also has overhead projectors, TVs, VCRs, DVD players, tape recorders, transcription sets, digital voice recorders, a laminator, a camcorder, a scanner, a photocopier, and computers.

Acquisitions include resources in French; mathematics; diverse cultures; history; social studies; children’s literature, including the entire children’s literature collection from the former Nova Scotia Teachers'
College; secondary English; science, including environmental studies; physical education; art; drama; and reference books related to teaching and professional development. The Centre is an official distributor of the Nova Scotia Museum Kits. A complete list of all the kits can be obtained from the Centre.

Florence Wardrope, the Curriculum Resource Centre Coordinator, is available to assist pre-service teachers with preparation of materials for program assignments and practicum. As well, MEd students and in-service teachers are welcome to use the facilities of the Centre. Most items in the Centre can be borrowed for a period of 14 days. For further information, please call (902) 867-2272.

■ Health Centre

Registered nurses provide a variety of health and education programs for university students, as well as clinical services during regular office hours at the Health Centre. Physician services are also available Monday to Friday in the Health Centre. For more information about Health Services on campus, please refer to the Health Centre website http://www.mystfx.ca/services/healthcentre/

Full-time Canadian and international students are automatically enrolled in a health benefit insurance plan administered by the Students’ Union. The premium is charged to their university account. Students may opt out of the plan by providing proof of equivalent coverage.

■ International Students Handbook

International students are advised to read the International Students Handbook, which is available online at http://www.mystfx.ca/services/international-student-office/pdfs/handbook.pdf. Although this publication is directed toward full-time, undergraduate students, it contains valuable information for graduate students as well. The main point to note in this document is that MEd graduate students must plan their arrival on campus for July 1, not September 1 as indicated in the handbook.

■ Library

Angus L. Macdonald Library, Extended Library Services http://library.stfx.ca/help/distance_education.php

Students in Continuing & Distance Education courses sometimes find doing research for an assignment challenging. Extended Library Services is a support system designed to help you over that hurdle, so you can learn to find the library and information resources you need to complete your course work.

Where do I begin?
Normally, your local library (whether a university, college, hospital, or public library) should be your first resource for locating research material.

Most local libraries will loan books, allow you to photocopy materials (subject to copyright legislation), access the Internet, and obtain materials from other libraries on inter-library loan. A charge may apply to some or all of these services.

StFX will provide registered students with a library card and, on request, a letter of introduction to local librarians. Your StFX library card can be used to borrow books from StFX or any library in the Novanet system.

Most Canadian academic libraries now allow in-person borrowing upon presentation of a CAUL (ASIN) card. Cards are available to StFX students who are in good standing with Novanet by contacting Pam MacLean at the Angus L. Macdonald Library (902) 867-3890 or pmaclean@stfx.ca.
Some students will find it difficult to obtain appropriate materials through local libraries, either because they live a distance from such a library, or because the resources available are limited. Extended Library Services is designed to meet the various needs of such students.

What support is offered?

- advice on library procedure
- solutions to problems with library cards
- document delivery of books and journal articles
- assistance with renewal of book loans
- support for literature searches
- assistance in locating specific materials
- technical support with the use of electronic resources such as online journals

Some cost recovery charges on services such as photocopying will apply.

Remote Access to the Library’s Electronic Resources

Your WebFX User Name (for example, x2010abc) and Password (same as for WebMail) allow off-campus users to access the library’s electronic journals and databases through a “proxy server”.

Some of the full text databases available through the proxy server are listed below:

■ Textbooks

It is the responsibility of the student to obtain appropriate texts before the course begins. Text book order forms can be found online at http://www.mystfx.ca/campusstore/students/index.htm. Once at this site, click Masters of Education twice. Here you will choose the location of your course first, and then the course number. You can order textbooks by email, fax, telephone, or in person. As many of the course numbers look similar, please make sure you have chosen the correct course location for the text you are ordering.
The services of the Writing Centre are available to all StFX students and are designed to complement course work. Students can arrange one-to-one meetings with an instructor to discuss specific work in progress, or to assess and improve their academic skills, such as note-taking, time management, grammar, oral presentations, and exam preparation. The Writing Centre can help students:

- Develop a research plan
- Develop a thesis statement
- Organize ideas and source material
- Document sources using APA

Distance students can fax or email assignments or term papers for feedback; however, students should allow 1–2 weeks for staff to evaluate submissions.

The Writing Centre website (http://www.mystfx.ca/resources/writingcentre/) is a valuable resource for students. In addition to providing tips and information on how to improve writing, check the frequently asked questions (FAQs) page, which answers many of the common questions distance students ask. The Writing Guide provides information on planning, writing, and documenting an essay. It is available at the StFX bookstore or at the Writing Centre for approximately $5.

If you need assistance, contact the Writing Centre at (902) 867-5221, by email at writingc@stfx.ca, or by fax at (902) 867-5380.
Academic Writing in the StFX Faculty of Education

StFX’s Faculty of Education Graduate Studies program uses the American Psychological Association’s (APA’s) general style for communicative writing. The APA manual (6th ed.) contains general information on preferred writing style for academic communications in the social sciences as well as specific guidelines for presentation and referencing details. Passages in the APA manual that may be useful during your coursework are listed in Table 1.

When writing, favour active voice over passive voice. Short, declarative sentences, few acronyms, and minimal jargon are hallmarks of effective academic writing. Complex ideas sometimes require complex sentences, but often two simpler sentences convey a complex idea more clearly. Contractions are avoided except in direct quotations. Imperatives (e.g., must, should) are used cautiously, when mandatory, or in a recommendation.

Remember the basics. Keep a clear focus on the topic; make sure the narrative flows smoothly and can be easily understood by someone not already steeped in your topic, someone unfamiliar with the details of your topic or the key literature. Rather than thinking of your advisor as the reader, write for the naïve reader. Introduce the topic in general terms—in your own voice—before presenting the details of the paper. An introduction should explain, in a concise manner, why the paper was written or why the topic is important, and it should set up the subtopics as a framework for the reader.

Use headings to tell a story (key features) for the busy reader who will most likely skim your paper for key ideas before deciding whether or not to read your paper. Headings serve as signposts for the reader. They also help you, the writer, to organize your paper logically around points that are easy to follow. Develop an effective title, one that truly represents the content and direction of the paper.

Document carefully all your sources of information. The reader should be able to identify easily the sources for all parts of the information. Direct quotations should illustrate ideas rather than to do the work of making the point. They add voice and a sense of authenticity for ideas. As you do the literature research, remember to keep track of all sources in your notes, including page numbers for direct extracts. The software RefWorks can be a very valuable tool for this. You can access Refworks via the StFX Library website at http://library.stfx.ca/

A summary briefly restates or reinforces the main points already made in text. A conclusion, when used, captures answers the question “So what?” Do not introduce new information in your conclusion. If you find that you are adding new ideas or quotations to a conclusion you should place them in the main body of the document and then rewrite the conclusion to reference those points.

Remember that the content is the most important part of your paper. When writing your initial draft, let the content ideas flow as they may. Revise and edit the narrative flow and APA format after you have laid out your main ideas in a preliminary draft. Provide transitions between sections. Good writing comes through a process of rewriting and revision, for it is through rewriting that your main ideas become more clearly identified and expressed.
The Six Cs of Informative Writing

Concise
Do you stay on topic with economical wording, little elaboration, little repetition, and by avoiding writing about interesting but tangential diversions?

Complete
Do you say everything you need to say in order for the reader to understand your points and perspectives?

Consistent
Do you maintain consistent wording choices, from sentence to sentence, page to page, and throughout the paper?

Clear
Are your sentences short and direct? Have you organized complex ideas more like groups in a parade than a football skirmish (use more than one sentence to describe the action in a football-skirmish-type idea)? Do you use active verbs? Is your vocabulary understandable by your target readers without more than occasional reference to a dictionary? Do you define technical terms when you first introduce them? Do you avoid jargon and frequent use of acronyms? Do you use the passive voice sparingly?

Coherent
Do you use headings like signposts, to let a busy reader skim the headings to get a sense of what is in the paper? Do you maintain a logical development or flow of ideas? Do you let the reader know in advance where you are going with the paper and how it is organized? Do you use explicit transitional sentences or paragraphs where the focus shifts from one topic to another? Do you bring closure to a topic before shifting, and to the paper at the end?

Correct
Do you clarify your idea for the reader and identify the source or sources of ideas you obtained from elsewhere? Are your citations from other sources accurate and not misleading? Do you say what you mean (i.e., will the reader likely perceive your intended meaning)?

APA Style

American Psychological Association Style Guide (APA, 6th ed.)

All professors in the Faculty of Education expect you to write and reference papers following APA style guidelines. The samples outlined in the following section are by no means exhaustive; they merely represent the most common references used by Master of Education students. Always refer to the complete APA Style Guide (6th ed.). Other resources are posted on the StFX Writing Centre’s website at:

http://www.mystfx.ca/resources/writingcentre/Documenting.htm

Writing and APA resources are posted in your Blackboard course or by contacting Farnoush Zadeh (fzadeh@stfx.ca; 902-867-5728). Remember that as you move through the program, reference rules may have changed after the production of this document. Follow the most current electronic version of the Graduate Student Handbook found at http://www.mystfx.ca/academic/continuinged/Graduate-Handbook.html.

Students writing in French must follow specific guidelines with respect to punctuation and capitalization. You are expected to follow the general APA guidelines, supplemented by the APA referencing resources created by Professor Anne Curry and Wendy Kraglund-Gauthier. These resources are posted in your Blackboard course or by contacting Farnoush Zadeh (fzadeh@stfx.ca; 902-867-5728).

Some APA Style Rules for Punctuation

APA 6th edition outlines specific rules of style for punctuation (See pp. 87–100). However many people are often confused by the various lengths, names, and spacing of ellipses, dashes, and hyphens. This page can help clarify their uses and typography.

The ellipsis is used in direct quotations to indicate that intervening text (one word to several sentences or even more) in the original was left out: “Older learners take longer … to learn a second language” (Smith, 1998, p. 23). Note that a space precedes and follows an ellipsis.

An ellipsis can be typed by using Ctrl + Alt + . where . is the period key, or from the special character symbols under the insert menu.

An en dash is mid-size and is used to replace “to” in a range, or for parallel adjectives: like 1952–1953; 27–33 year range; student–teacher relationships. Do not forget en dashes in your references containing page ranges (i.e., a chapter in a book would appear as pp. 5–12; a journal article page range would appear as 5–12).

An en dash can be typed by using Ctrl + - where - is the minus key on the far upper-right corner of the numeric part of the keypad. (Push both keys at the same time.)

An em dash is used for asides, etc., and looks long—like this.

In MS Word, the shortcut for typing a full-size em dash is: Ctrl + Alt + - where - is the minus key on the far upper-right corner of the numeric part of the keypad. (Push all 3 keys at the same time.)

Another option, the menu sequence, using the mouse to insert an em or en dash is: Insert; symbol; special characters (at top above the matrix); em dash or en dash.

Some publishers add spaces around an en dash and use it in lieu of an em dash – like this – but APA does not.

A hyphen is short and is used when one adjective modifies another adjective, like in a three-horse carriage, etc.

Other Punctuation and Spacing

Periods

- You can use either one space or two spaces after a period or a question mark at the end of a sentence—just be consistent.
- There is one space between reference elements and initials (e.g., J. E. Doe).
- There are no spaces after internal periods in abbreviations (i.e., another rule; n.d.).

There is only one space after a comma (,), colon (:), or semicolon (;)

APA employs the “serial comma” rule between elements (i.e., the height, width, or depth …) See APA pp. 88–89 for specific comma rules for clauses.
APA Heading Level Styles

Heading Levels Normally Used In a Paper or Thesis [Level 1]

Begin the paper with one to three paragraphs that set up the purpose and explain what it is about. Subsequent sections should begin with a paragraph or two that explains the main focus of that section and sets up any subsections in it. Note there are no extra line spaces between sections. Make sure your word processing defaults is not set to add extra spacing after paragraphs. The introduction section of a paper is not labeled.

Major Section Headings [Level 1]

A section consists of paragraphs and possibly subsections. Usually an introductory paragraph is used to set up the main themes in the section before the first subsection heading. If short, there may be no subsection headings. Generally avoid stacking two headings without intervening text.

Subsection Headings [Level 2]

Subsections typically contain much of the basic data in a report. Occasionally long reports may contain secondary order subsections.

Secondary order subsection headings [Level 3]. Secondary subsections contain sub-themes within a subsection. These headings are usually part of the first paragraph.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Level of heading</th>
<th>Format</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Centered, Boldface, Uppercase and Lowercase Heading(^a)</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>Flush Left, Boldface, Uppercase and Lowercase Heading</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Indented, boldface, lowercase paragraph heading ending with a period(^b)</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>Indented, boldface, italicized, lowercase paragraph heading ending with a period.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Indented, italicized, lowercase paragraph heading ending with a period.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

\(^a\) This type of capitalization is also referred to as little case.
\(^b\) In a lowercase paragraph heading, the first letter of the first word is uppercase and the remaining words are lowercase.

What is a DOI?

Internet content can be moved, redesigned, or removed, resulting in broken hyperlinks and incorrect URLs in your reference list. In a move to address this issue, many scholarly publishers now assign a Digital Object Identifier (DOI) to journal articles and other documents.

The DOI System is used to identify digital intellectual property, identifying where that property (or information about that property) can be found on the Internet. “Information about a digital object may change over time, including where to find it, but its DOI name will not change” (DOI.org, 2008). A DOI name differs from commonly-used Internet pointers to material such as the URL because it identifies an object, not just its current Internet address.

Sometimes DOIs are hard to find or simply have not been assigned. The DOI resolver provided by CrossRef.org, a registration agency for scholarly and professional publications, is one tool you can use to find a DOI if it is not prominently displayed in a journal article. When a DOI is available, include the DOI instead of the URL in the reference.

APA Reference Examples with DOIs

Note the 9432 refers to the journal, the 76 is the volume, the 4 is the issue, and the 482 is the start of the page range; however, not all DOI numbers are this transparent.

Other Examples of DOIs

doi:10.1000/1047935X
doi:10.1000/ISSN1047-935X
doi:10.2345/S1384107697000225
doi:10.6789/WendysPaper13

Note:

A DOI is not the same as the Document ID number, which is often used by journal databases such as ProQuest. Do not use the Document ID number in your reference because it is specific only to that particular database.

The samples outlined below are by no means exhaustive; they merely represent the most common references used by MEd students. Always refer to the complete APA Style Guide (2010). Also, check out the resources available on the APA website at www.apa.org

Incorporating Direct Quotations

Direct Quotation, Reference in Text, Ellipses

“The ‘placebo effect’ . . . disappeared when behaviors were studies in this manner” (Miele, 1993, p. 276); however, the researcher did not clarify which behaviours were studied. [See APA, 2010, pp. 172–173]

Quotation Marks within Quotation Marks, Inserted Text

Miele (1993) found that “the ‘placebo effect,’ which had been verified in previous studies, disappeared when [only the first group’s] behaviors were studied in this manner” (p. 26). [See APA, 2010, p. 92]

Block Quotation, Reference in Text

As Stringer (2007) has noted:

Much research is confounded by the lack of interest of the participants, but the collaborative processes of action research are designed to promote high levels of enthusiasm and active participation. Enthusiasm and interest, however, should not be mistaken for sound research processes. (p. 57) [See APA, 2010, p. 92]

Note: The year of the Newell et al. reference is repeated in the parentheses; if Newell et al. were referred to again in the paragraph sentences, no year is required.

In a discussion on electronic communication as a tool to improve mentoring, Bierema and Merriam asserted “Successful mentoring involves frequent and regular interaction … [but] barriers such as time, work responsibilities, geographic distance, and lack of trust often reduce, if not halt, interaction” (as cited in Penny & Bolton, 2009, p. 24).

Note: Avoid secondary citations if possible, especially in your thesis. Take the time to find the original source.

Verb Tense and Voice
- Did you write in the past tense when presenting the literature (e.g., Smith and Renquist (2005) noted … Collins (2001) made several recommendations regarding …) and in presenting results (e.g., in three interviews, participants mentioned the …)
- Did you use present perfect tense to refer to an occurrence that did not occur at a specific time or for an action beginning in the past and continuing to the present (e.g., Since the early 1990s, some researchers (Brookfield, 2005; Cranton, 2001) have drawn parallel between …)
- Did you write in the present tense when discussing results and presenting conclusions?
- Did you write in the active voice throughout the thesis (e.g., “I ordered the books,” not “the books were ordered”)? First-person is acceptable in APA (e.g., “I approached the research process with … Furthermore, my objectives were …”)
- Did you vary your verbs to introduce quotations, (e.g., asserted, emphasized, maintained, observed)?
Capitalization (see APA, 2010, pp. 101–104)

- Did you capitalize other proper nouns followed by numerals that refer to a specific place in a numbered series (i.e., Grade 1, Chapter 3, Phase 1, Day 2, Session 3, and Table 4)?
- Did you capitalize proper nouns (the Master of Education program at StFX; the course, Biology of Northern Lakes), but use lowercase for generic terms (2 participants had a master's degree in education; she is a biology teacher; I used action research; the theory of lost domino pieces)?

Numbers (see APA, pp. 111–124 for a complete list of rules and exceptions)

- Did you write numbers 10 or greater as figures, and numbers less than 10 as words?
- Did you write numbers for specific time and dates as figures, but as words for approximates (e.g., 1 hour, 6-year-olds, 4-month course, but approximately two weeks)?
- Did you write numbers grouped together with numbers 10 or greater, as figures (e.g., “I noticed that 4 of the 15 participants were writing,” but “two of the five pages were blank”)?

Wording

- Did you consistently use one term to refer to your work (e.g., study, course, program)?
- Did you use a consistent term to refer to your participants (e.g., students, participants, co-workers, colleagues)?
- Did you use abbreviations and acronyms sparingly or provide a list of acronyms if you use more than five?
- Did you avoid using contractions? (e.g., can't, we’d)—except in verbatim narrative and direct quotations?
- Did you hyphenate compound adjectives used to qualify a noun, (e.g., “university-level program” but “a program at the university level”)?
- Did you avoid plural pronouns for singular antecedents (i.e., a participant … they …)?
- Did you avoid using gender-specific pronouns when discussing authors or when presenting research in which gender was not a variable (APA, 2010, pp. 73–74)?
- Did you use “I” to refer to yourself as sole author, or “we” to refer to you and your co-authors (APA, 2010, p. 69)?

Punctuation

- Did you use either one or two spaces after punctuation at the end of sentences, but only one after author initials on the References page and none when using the (n.d.) [ used when no date is given on a publication]?
- Did you use commas for two or more items in a list (e.g., “David, Mary, and I went.”)?
- Did you put commas and periods inside quotation marks (e.g., He said, “I went there.”) except in literature citations?
- Did you use (a), (b), and (c) for lists within a paragraph?
- Did you use 1., 2., and 3. to number each paragraph in a serial list when order is important?
- Did you use bullets in a serial list when order is not important?
- Did you reserve double quotation marks primarily for use around direct quotations? APA uses quotation marks sparingly otherwise (i.e., for irony, slang, and coined words).
- Did you use the En Dash (–) to separate numbered items (e.g., numbered page ranges 23–34 in your References pages) and Em Dashes (—) for “asides”?
Bolding and Italics

☐ Is there no bolded text in your document, other than Heading levels and the exceptions in the MEd document forms required for theses?

☐ Did you use italics (rather than quotation marks) for emphasis, technical or key terms, or linguistic examples?

Tables and Figures

☐ Did you include copies of all tables and figures cited?

☐ Are all tables and figures cited in the text, numbered in the order cited, and provided with captions?

☐ Did you present tables (pp. 125–150) and figures (pp. 150–167) in APA style?

☐ Did you obtain written permission from the copyright holder to use any previously published materials such as tables, figures, poetry, etc. (see APA, 2010, pp. 173–174)?

Quotations

☐ Did you block left indent by 0.5” (1.27cm) and double-space all quotations of 40 or more words?

☐ Did you avoid using quotation marks around blocked quotations?

☐ Did you give page numbers for all direct quotations if page numbers are available?

Confidentiality

☐ Did you ensure people and institutions are anonymous (e.g., fictitious names are not transparent) unless permission for identifying the persons and places has been granted?

☐ Did you include only personal data for which you received informed consent (such as audio-taped interviews), not from informal conversations for which consent was not specifically extended?

References in Text

☐ Did you eliminate the repetition of the date, in subsequent references to the same author/date in the same paragraph? (e.g., Brookfield (1996) in the first reference, but Brookfield only in subsequent references in the same paragraph)?

☐ Did you use et al. only after the first citation for references with three to five authors?

☐ Did you alphabetize multiple references within parentheses (e.g., Apps, 1999; Conte & Adams, 1998)?

☐ Did you separate multiple references in parentheses with a semi-colon?

☐ Did you use the ampersand (&) only in parentheses and the reference list?

☐ Did you cite multiple references illustratively—for example: I hold with proponents of experiential learning (e.g., Boud & Miller, 1996; Lindeman, 1926), rather than exhaustively listing all experiential proponents you have reviewed?

☐ Did you avoid appropriating a reference’s voice or actions for your own—for example: I asked the teachers to reflect on their activities in their journal (similar to Jones’ procedures, 2003, p. 27); not, I asked the teachers “to reflect in a journal on what you have done” (Jones, 2003, p. 27); also use “see” to reference background information on a concept in your actions (I investigated the concept of emotional intelligence (see Salovey & Mayer, 1990)).
Reference List
☐ Did you follow APA style (6th ed.)?
☐ Did you incorporate the DOI number for journal articles if they are available?

☐ Did you use hanging indent paragraphs?
☐ Did you order references from the same author and different years from oldest to newest (e.g., Doe, J. (2000), then Doe, J. (2003))?
☐ Did you distinguish between two references with identical authors and date by assigning “a” and “b” in date by title alphabetization—for example: Doe, J. (2001a). Doing it right; Doe, J. (2001b). Making do with what you have—regardless of which you cited first in text?

Appendices
☐ Are the appendices labelled A, B, C, in order of citation, and are the pages numbered consecutively with the rest of the document?
☐ Do all appendices conform to requirements for margins and APA style?
☐ Did you use original text (i.e., retyped for the thesis) rather than photocopies for appendices?

Proofreading

☐ Have you made use of the services of the StFX Writing Centre to identify and revise patterns of error, learn self-editing practices, and hone writing and documenting styles?
☐ Did you have a second reader proofread the document for typographic errors and sentence clarity?
