

ANTH/WMGS 326 Anthropology of Kinship
Winter 2018

Question for final exam. You must provide a preliminary answer to this at the beginning of the course, submitting your answer to me electronically, and keeping a record of your initial answer so you can reflect on it throughout the course.

Answer this question with a sentence or two: “What is the basis of kinship?”

On the final exam, you will reflect on your initial answer, in the form of an essay in which the argument is whether you still agree with your initial position, and why or why not. The essay will be supported by discussion of at least three of the required readings of the course as evidence for your position. You will not be permitted to take materials into the exam with you, but you are encouraged to plan your answer throughout the course. Be careful that you do not simply summarize the material; you should use it to explain your new answer to the question,
